Royal Relations with Italy

Having turned 90 in 2016, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth is to mark her official birthday this year on 17 June with the annual Trooping the Colour ceremony at Horse Guards Parade in London.

Already in 2017 there have been a number of Royal visits to Italy. Their Royal Highnesses The Prince of Wales and The Duchess of Cornwall were here from 31 March to 5 April, with spectacular press coverage of 30 events over five cities showcasing the depth and breadth of the bilateral relationship. Their Royal Highnesses met President Mattarella, Prime Minister Gentiloni and His Holiness the Pope among others. Our shared sacrifices on the battlefield were recalled when Prince Charles marked the centenary of British involvement in the Italian Front in the First World War. Our strong cultural links were centre stage. Their Royal Highnesses celebrated the centenary of the British Institute in Florence, and also visited the British School at Rome. Their Royal Highnesses also focused on the human face of modern Italy. They were briefed on the challenges faced by migrants in Italy and visited charities working with those affected. Business links were also prominent. A high-profile moment saw The Prince of Wales being granted the keys of the city of Florence. But the element of the visit that resonated significantly with ordinary Italians came when he visited the areas in central Italy hit by the tragic earthquakes last year - spending four hours talking to residents in one location. Overall, the Italy visit demonstrated not only the UK's enduring deep and special partnership with this country but also the importance to both countries of future collaboration to tackle modern challenges.

Other Royal visits have seen Their Royal Highnesses Prince and Princess Michael of Kent travel to Italy in the early part of 2017. Also recently in early May I had the pleasure of meeting the daughters of The Duke of York, Their Royal Highnesses Princess Beatrice (photo, inset) Princess Eugenie at this year's Venice Biennale where they were involved with celebrating the UK participation.

In other Royal news, Buckingham Palace announced that His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh is retiring from Royal duties this autumn. Prince Philip, who turns 96 in June and is the longest-serving consort in British history, made the decision himself and the Queen supported him, a spokesman said. "I'm sorry to hear you're standing down; one man told him at a Royal lunch. "Well, I can't stand up much," the Duke apparently quipped! The Queen however is to continue with her official duties.

As we approach Her Majesty's official birthday, it is to The Queen that we wish to pay special tribute. To quote the British national anthem, "Long live our noble Queen."

Brexit: Dual Citizenship?

Since the Brexit vote on 23 June 2016 there has been much discussion by British citizens living in Italy on how to protect their rights to continue living and working in Italy after the UK leaves the EU on 29 March 2019. Of course everyone's personal situation will be different, but one possible option is the application for Italian citizenship provided that you have lived in Italy for more than 4 years.

Dual-citizenship is permitted under both Italian and English law, they are not mutually exclusive, so a UK citizen may also hold Italian citizenship (and vice versa). Having dual-citizenship after the UK leaves the EU will give the holder the right to live and work in the UK (as a British citizen), in Italy (as an Italian citizen) and elsewhere in the EU (as an EU citizen of Italy). Of course the Brexit negotiations may grant additional rights to EU citizens (including Italian citizens) in the UK after Brexit, and additional rights to British citizens in the EU (including Italy) after Brexit, but this is still to be negotiated and there is no guarantee of the outcome of those UK - EU negotiations. So obtaining Italian citizenship now, and being prepared for the worst, could make sense for many readers.

Here are the requirements for applying for Italian citizenship:

1. Registration on the Ministero dell'Interno website: all applications for Italian citizenship are now done online, so register with the Ministero dell'Interno website to gain access to the online application: https://nullaostalavoro.dlci.interno.it/Ministero/registrazione\_user. Once you are registered, keep your log-in details safe, as you will need them also to correspond with the local Prefecture handling your application during and after the application process.

2. Completing the application form: once registered, follow the link to register for citizenship. There are different rules depending on where you are from, so this article only focuses on British applicants. You must have been continuously resident in Italy for a minimum of 4 years before the application and hold a full British passport. Necessary details to provide in support of your application include place of residence, codice fiscale, qualification, partner's details, parental details, children's details, places of residence since 14 years old, and your taxable income in the last 3 years. You don't have to complete the application form on one go, you can save and return at a later date using your log-in details.

3. Required documents: you will need the following:

- birth certificate (original copy), which you can get from General Register Office in the UK (apply online at <https://www.gro.gov.uk/gro/content/certificates/default.asp>) at a cost of GB£9.25. The birth certificate must be apostilled by the Foreign & Commonwealth Office (GB£30 plus courier fees) - ask your lawyer to help with this - and then translated and sworn in an Italian court using an officially approved translator.

- a criminal records certificate (showing that you have no UK criminal record) at a cost of GB£45 available online from the UK ACRO Criminal Records Office (https://www.acro.police.uk/police\_certificates.aspx) (plus any other country where you have lived prior to arriving in Italy).

U.S. Citizens and Resident Aliens Abroad Automatic 6 Month Extension of Time to File

If you are not able to file your return by the due date, you generally can get an automatic 6-month extension of time to file. To get this automatic extension, you must file Form 4868. Or, you can file Form 4868 electronically (e-file), using your personal computer, or through a tax professional. You do not have to explain why you are asking for the extension. You will be contacted only if your request is denied.

The form must show your properly estimated tax liability based on the information available to you.

CAUTION! You may not be eligible. You cannot use the automatic 6-month extension of time to file if:

- You want the IRS to figure your tax, or
- You are under a court order to file by the regular due date

When To File

Generally, you must request the 6-month extension by the regular due date for your return.

Previous 2-Month Extension

If you are unable to file your return within the automatic 2-month extension period, you may be able to get an additional 4-month extension of time to file your return, for a total of 6 months. The automatic 2-month and the 6-month extension start at the same time. You do not have to request the 6-month extension until the new due date allowed by the first extension, but the total combined extension will still only be 6 months from the regular due date.

Time To Pay Not Extended

A 6-month extension of time to file is not an extension of time to pay. You must make an accurate estimate of your tax and send any necessary payment with your Form 4868 or pay the tax due by credit card. If you find you cannot pay the full amount due with Form 4868, you can still get the extension. You will owe interest on the unpaid amount.

You also may be charged a penalty for paying the tax late unless you have reasonable cause for not paying your tax when due. Interest and penalties are assessed (charged) from the original due date of your return.

Extension of Time to File in Order to Qualify for the Foreign Earned Income Exclusion

You generally cannot get an extension of time to file of more than 6 months. However, if you are outside the United States and meet certain tests, you may be able to get a longer extension.

You can get an extension of time to file your tax return if you need the time to meet either the bona fide residence test or the physical presence test to qualify for either the foreign earned income exclusion or the foreign housing exclusion or deduction.

Making the Most of Your Summer to Prepare for University Abroad

With year-end exams coming to a close, and warm weather clearly in the air, summer is almost here! If you're considering university abroad in the next few years, you can take advantage of summer opportunities to deepen your knowledge or pursue compelling hobbies, enhance your CV, and "divertirti" all at the same time! Here are some answers to Frequently Asked Questions that will jump-start your thinking about the upcoming sunny season:

• I've been studying all year. Why should I consider attending a summer course?

If you aspire to university abroad, hopefully you've already made a few preparations for summer and are considering your options. Deepening your knowledge or working on academic projects through any type of summer activity is always valuable. From experience, it's been proven that international students who attend summer courses on university campuses—particularly those which are taught by college faculty—may land a competitive advantage in future applications. If you attend an Italian liceo, strong summer grades earned in a new academic system will demonstrate your English language skills and academic ability, and will prove to future Admissions officers that you can handle university-level work in a foreign country—or even better, at their university! Besides, summer courses also provide fun, low-commitment ways to test out different majors/courses or career areas, make new friends, and get acquainted with a particular city or international culture before being tied down to a three- or four-year degree program. Please note: any faculty-written letters of recommendation must be secured in hand before the summer's end, or risk getting lost in the autumn shuffle afterwards!

• Are there any types of students for which summer activities could be more crucial?

Students who are gifted with artistic talents or athletic abilities are wise to plan very early for artistic/performance undergraduate degrees or talent-based funding. Music and dance conservatories, institutes for the visual or media arts, and university sports scholarships all require advanced preparation, for which summer offers special opportunities.

For music & dance: Performing arts camps abound in the USA, UK and Canada, with the most reputable ones providing individualized training in artistic technique, exposure to different musical periods or dance styles, and participation in group rehearsals, solo/ensemble performances, and master classes with special guest artists. Such summer camps are excellent venues for acquiring a realistic sense of the competition in artistic fields, as well as understanding professional standards for training and artistic expression. Practically speaking, performing arts camps provide concrete opportunities to work on audition skills and performance anxiety, and test whether you have the right personality for a sustained career in the performing arts.

For visual arts: To apply for your desired major/course at an art institute of higher education, you will probably need to submit an artistic portfolio, which may contain sketchbook pieces, as well as a written, artistic statement. Many schools of art in English-speaking countries offer summer courses for high school students to help prepare portfolios with professional, artistic feedback. You can also explore the vast breadth of areas within visual arts and digital media to confirm your interests. Once again, if you prioritize courses at your favorite art school, you may receive direct contact with faculty and insights into how that institution approaches a studio art-related career.

national recipe

Queen Elizabeth II Chocolate Birthday Cake

This iconic recipe has been passed down from generations, dating back to Queen Victoria's chef Gabriel Tschumi. The recipe below has been fine-tuned by former royal chef Darren McGrady for Queen Elizabeth II and is made for her twice a year because Her Majesty has an official birthday in June and real birthday in April each year.

Ingredients Sponge

- 6 egg yolks
- 2 eggs
- 4 oz cup granulated sugar
- 2 oz cup flour
- 1 oz Dutch cocoa powder
- 2 oz melted butter

Topping and filling

- 1 pint heavy cream
- 454 g Ghirardelli dark chocolate

Preparation

At least six hours before baking the cake, prepare the filling: Melt half the chocolate (227g). Bring to boil 1 cup of the cream. Pour the cream onto the chocolate and whisk it until smooth, then refrigerate until set. Turn on the oven to 177°C. Line an 8 inch sponge tin with parchment paper and grease.

Set a pan (large enough to hold a mixing bowl) half full of hot water on the stove; bring the water to a boil.

In a mixing bowl, add the eggs, yolks and sugar and whisk together. Place over the bowl of hot water to allow the mixture to heat up. Sieve the flour and cocoa and set aside.

Whisk the egg mixture until it doubles in volume and then fold in the butter and flour mixture. Spoon the mix into the cake tin; bake about 20 minutes, or until the sponge springs back when pressed. Remove from the oven onto a cooling wire and make the topping while the sponge cools.

Melt remaining chocolate. Bring to a boil remaining cream. Pour the cream onto the chocolate and whisk it until smooth and then set aside off the heat.

Slice the sponge into three discs and spread the filling onto the bottom two discs and reassemble. Add the remaining chocolate mix to the hot topping and whisk in. Place the sponge back onto the cooling wire and ladle the topping over the sponge allowing it to run down the sides. Cool the cake for at least two hours before decorating and serving.
