dear readers,

Co-founders Aaron Pugliesi and Amie Louie at the printers in February 2000, picking up the first issue of Easy Milano

I address you for the last time from the pages of Easy Milano in our final edition. The journey has been long and at times quite challenging--especially at the beginning. I recall 2002 was a particularly difficult year for Aaron and I. We had finished the enthusiasm that comes with the novelty and we were living in the shadow of 9/11. Understandably afraid to stand out, Americans and Brits kept a low profile. We had gathered some consensus from "early adopters," but most of the English speakers living in northern Italy still lived in isolated micro-communities.

Surprisingly enough, even though the desire to stay under the radar was strong, the Community continued to increase in size. Back then business was slower than we would have liked. Our trips out to Arese and Monza to meet "expat settlements" outside the city were time-consuming, but our readership was progressively growing.

A few years later, in 2006, the Community was officially ready to come out of seclusion and show off its true colors. On the fourth of July, dozens of Americans accompanied by their spouses and Italian friends showed up for what was going to later become J4Milan, one of the largest annual community celebrations in Milan.

A lot has changed since then and mostly for the better. We have become an important and influential community with tens of thousands of members; some of whom will travel from Torino, Varese, Como, Vicenza and Bologna to participate in community events. Others in Rome, Naples, Sicily and in less numerous communities throughout Italy would read us from afar by occasionally downloading an issue.

So what now? What is the future of Easy Milano and what will become of the Community that we have all contributed to thread together? It's up to you; the thousands of readers, the clubs, the diplomatic missions, the "lifers" and veteran expats. As I had mentioned in a prior issue, Aaron and I have been speaking with the publisher of a local free press, Where Milan; an editorial format publication with listings and reviews in English, which we have been following for years now.

We have made some promising steps forward and have persuaded Where Milan to dedicate some space in their magazine for the International Community. They have offered to make some adjustments to host on their pages some of the typical content found in Easy Milano. In addition, they have even agreed to add new distribution points to make it more accessible and Easy for residents to pick up a copy. Of course, it's not going to be the same, but that is not necessarily a bad thing. Aaron and I will move on to focus on other aspects of the Community. He will be focusing on business and commercial relations between the UK and Italy; I will be focusing on promoting international education. Meanwhile, Andrea Jarach and his team at Where Milan will be keeping their doors open and the ink rolling on the paper for everyone to read. Dry the tears off the emoticons you posted on Easy Milano's Facebook page because the torch may not go out after all!

Let me conclude by thanking everyone who has supported Easy Milano throughout the years: our readers, our staff, our distribution partners, the local institutions, the businesses that have funded our publication and our events, the international chambers of commerce and the diplomatic institutions that have often treated Easy Milano as an extension of their offices. Thank you to each and every one of you for making the past 18 years a truly unforgettable experience!

Warmest regards,

Amie Louie

Goodbye to 2017 and Goodbye to Easy Milano

HM Ambassador to Italy, Jill Morris; PM Theresa May; Paul Sellers, Director British Council Italy; HM Consul General in Milan Tim Flear; Ken O'Flaherty, Deputy Head of Mission, British Embassy Rome

In his play "Romeo and Juliet", set in Italy of course, Shakespeare famously wrote: "Parting is such sweet sorrow." That idea combines both a feeling of sadness and yet a sense of pleasure, if not hope. This is the last issue of Easy Milano. Like that "sweet sorrow", the closure of the publication certainly comes as a loss in the backdrop of English-speaking community life in Milan. Over the three years I have lived and worked in the city, for me it has been a constant source of help, information and enjoyment. It has been part of the fabric of life here, it is no exaggeration to say. Indeed, I and previous Consuls-General, not just of the UK but also of other countries, have very much welcomed the opportunity to share messages with you its readers, going back to its start in 1999. I am sure you all join me in sending a huge thank-you to its founders Amie Louie and Aaron Pugliesi. They have now both moved onto exciting new challenges, as you will know. We wish them well for the future.

“ [Easy Milano] has been part of the fabric of life here... a constant source of help, information and enjoyment. ”

The year 2017 is also similarly drawing to a close. It has been an eventful 12 months for the UK in Italy. Significantly, Their Royal Highnesses The Prince of Wales and The Duchess of Cornwall made a highly successful visit to the country in late March marking the close bonds between our nations. Also, other members of the Royal Family have travelled here.

Among a number of UK Ministerial visits however, undoubtedly the one that caught most attention publicly and with the world's media was the Prime Minister Theresa May's visit to Florence in late September to set out a bold and ambitious vision for Britain's future relationship with the EU, covering economic partnership, security partnership and immigration. Choosing that location, a fountain source of modern-day European civilisation, had great symbolic resonance. Amid the ongoing negotiations between the UK and the European Commission on Britain's departure from the European Union in March 2019, Theresa May has made clear that the UK is leaving the EU, not Europe. Culturally, economically, commercially, socially the UK remains committed to Italy and to this great continent. There is no question that Britain has always – and will always – stand with its friends and allies in defence of shared values, security and prosperity. While we are determined to make a success of Brexit, that will not be at the expense of what makes the UK European.

But turning to the festive period, with the recent announcement of the engagement of His Royal Highness Prince Harry and Meghan Markle, this acts as a timely and helpful reminder to us to look back across the year to give our heartfelt thanks to the people who have brought happiness, love and fellowship into our lives. We have much to be thankful for. I do. I hope you do too.

I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous 2018.

Message from Elizabeth Lee Martinez, US Consul General in Milan

Over the past two decades, the Consulate General of the United States in Milan and Easy Milano have cooperated on many events, with the common goal of strengthening the ties between the city and the American community.

The Consulate and the Easy Milano team have worked side-by-side on the organization of election night galas, Fourth of July celebrations and many other events that highlighted the strong friendship between our two countries. Milan is a city that welcomes newcomers from around the world and makes them feel at home. It has been my experience since I arrived, and Easy Milano played an important role in helping the English-speaking community feel at home in Milan.

“Over the past two decades, the Consulate General of the United States in Milan and Easy Milano have cooperated on many events, with the common goal of strengthening the ties between the city and the American community.”

Over the eighteen years of its life, Easy Milano has been a reference for travelers and foreign residents of this city alike, providing news, tips and suggestions and acting as a bridge between communities.

The Milanese now know more about our food and our culture, about our traditions and our holidays - especially Thanksgiving and July 4th, two of our most important - and about the importance of family to Americans.

Colleagues in the Consulate team still remember fondly Fourth of July celebrations at Palazzo Isimbardi or at the Arena, the Thanksgiving dinners around Milan, and the many election nights we spent anxiously awaiting the results. We have come a long way together and we will remember the energy and ingenuity of the Easy Milano team with joy and a bit of nostalgia.

Easy Milano has served an important purpose and its team is now ready for new challenges in their lives. We wish them all the best for their future and we rest assured that they will bring their energetic and smiling approach to life to their new tasks. We hope to find new ways to collaborate in the future.

Good luck and thank you for all your hard work!

Message from Colm Ó Floinn, Irish Ambassador to Italy

As the newly-arrived Ambassador of Ireland to Italy, I am delighted to offer my warmest wishes for Christmas and the New Year to Easy Milano readers, including Irish citizens in Italy, those who assist them, and the communities that have welcomed them.

I am grateful to have the opportunity in this final edition of Easy Milano to express thanks to Amie Louie and Aaron Pugliesi, on behalf of the Embassy of Ireland, for their work in the service of expatriates in Milan over the past 18 years.

“ Easy Milano has worked to facilitate such friendships and to foster the growth of a strong community of expats in Milan and the surrounding areas. ”

Christmas is a special time of the year, when many of us come together with family and friends in a spirit of sharing and celebration. For those living away from home, however, it is not always possible to spend the festive season with our loved ones far away. Over the course of a long career in the diplomatic service I have learned that, for expats, this time of year not only allows us to embrace new traditions and past-times, it also brings into focus the importance of those friendships and networks we enjoy in our adoptive homes.

Through its 377 issues, Easy Milano has worked to facilitate such friendships and to foster the growth of a strong community of expats in Milan and the surrounding areas. It has been a mine of practical help for those new to the city, and for those more established- a reliable guide to upcoming activities and opportunities. Long before the days of Twitter, it offered Embassies and Consulates a platform to share important information with our citizens. It will be sadly missed.

I know that the full Embassy team will join me in thanking the staff of Easy Milano for their friendly and professional collaboration over the years and in wishing them the best in all their future endeavours.

I wish you all a joyful Christmas and a peaceful and prosperous New Year.

national recipe

Last Minute Christmas Pudding

The Christmas pudding has its origins in medieval England, and is sometimes known as 'plum pudding'. Despite the name, it contains no actual plums, but dried fruit.

Preparation time 30 mins.
Cook time 10 - 30 mins.

Ingredients

- butter, for greasing
- handful fresh breadcumbs
- 1 free-range egg
- 4 tsp mincemeat
- 2 tsp soft brown sugar
- ¼ nutmeg, grated
- ¼ tsp cinnamon
- ½ tsp ground mixed spice
- 1 orange, zest only
- 1 tsp stout ale
- small knob of butter
- 30g mixed dried fruit
- 4 tsp brandy

Method

Preheat oven to 175 degrees Celsius.

Mix all the ingredients, except the brandy, in a bowl until well combined. Spoon the mixture into the pudding bowl, cover with greaseproof paper and cook in the microwave on full power for one minute.

Transfer the pudding to the oven and bake for a further 8-10 minutes.

Prepare a steamer, then steam the puddings for 8-10 minutes, or until cooked through.

To serve, turn the pudding out onto a serving plate and pour over the brandy.

Tip: To flame, warm the brandy in a small pan, pour it over the pudding and set light to it.

Message from Alexandra Bugailiskis, Canadian Ambassador to Italy

Dear Canadians and friends of Canada,

I am delighted to wish you happy holidays. I am looking forward to my first holiday season in Italy following my arrival earlier this Fall.

2017 has been a very busy year. Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and fourteen of his ministers visited Italy in the context of the Italian Presidency of the G7. They worked on a vast array of issues with their Italian colleagues. From Gender Equality to Climate Change, from Security to Innovation and many more, each visit showed the depth of the relationship between Canada and Italy, which will continue to grow even closer, thanks to the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) between Canada and the European Union, which is a great opportunity for both countries. As this year coincided with the 150th anniversary of Canada, many events showcasing Canadian Culture in Italy have allowed the celebration of accomplishments as well as a reflection on challenges before us.

“ Easy Milano's liaison with the Milan community has been an important resource for us. ”

I am grateful to you, Canadians who have made Italy your home and friends of Canada in Italy, for making our work in Italy so positive. I would add also my special thanks to the Easy Milano team for the collaboration and the special relationship which has been built over the years. Easy Milano's liaison with the Milan community has been an important resource for us. On behalf of the Embassy, we wish you all the best in your next endeavors.

Happy Holidays!

Chers Canadiens et amis du Canada,

Il me fait grand plaisir de vous souhaiter de joyeuses fêtes. Je me réjouis de cette première saison des fêtes en Italie après mon arrivée plus tôt cet automne.

2017 a été une année occupée. Le Premier ministre Justin Trudeau et quatorze de ses ministres ont visité l'Italie dans le contexte de la présidence italienne du G7. Ils ont travaillé sur une vaste gamme d'enjeux avec leurs collègues italiens. De l'égalité des sexes aux changements climatiques, de la sécurité à l'innovation, et bien d'autres sujets encore, chaque visite a illustré la profondeur de la relation entre le Canada et l'Italie, laquelle est appelée à croître encore plus, grâce à l'Accord économique commercial et global (AECG) entre le Canada et l'Union européenne. Alors que cette année coïncide avec le 150^e anniversaire du Canada, plusieurs événements faisant la promotion de la culture canadienne en Italie a permis de célébrer des accomplissements, de même que de réfléchir aux défis devant nous.

Je vous remercie, vous, Canadiens ayant fait de l'Italie votre foyer et amis du Canada ici, qui enrichissez notre travail. J'aimerais également remercier de tout cœur la rédaction d'Easy Milano pour la collaboration et la relation spéciale développée au cours de ces dernières années. Le travail de liaison effectué par Easy Milano avec la communauté milanaise a été très important pour nous. Au nom de l'ambassade, nous vous souhaitons bonne chance dans vos prochaines entreprises.

Joyeuses Fêtes!

Message from Daniel Shillito, President of The British Chamber of Commerce for Italy

Aaron Pugliesi, Filipe Boechat, HM CG Tim Flear, Silvia Filipponi, Daniel Shillito

Dear Amie

Being an expatriate myself, and even more so since I have been appointed President of The British Chamber of Commerce for Italy, I understand and appreciate the efforts of those entities that help inform international residents on the issues that play an important role in their lives and in that of their families. Working in a foreign environment is sometimes quite challenging. Linguistic and cultural differences may, in some instances, reduce the effectiveness or slow down the advancement of business relations. It is therefore no surprise that in every metropolitan city, English language publications, international chambers and associations become fundamental pillars for the development of fruitful social and business relations.

“ Over the years The British Chamber of Commerce for Italy has benefited from the visibility on the pages of Easy Milano to promote its initiatives... ”

Over the years The British Chamber of Commerce for Italy has benefited from the visibility on the pages of Easy Milano to promote its initiatives on Brexit, diversity and to inform of the benefits of joining the Chamber, a community made up of international companies with the desire to grow and engage with like-minded people. Easy Milano will be missed, but we find comfort in having Aaron among us, who will continue to foster cooperation between local international businesses and help deliver the great social and networking events that expatriates have learned to expect from Easy Milano.

I take the opportunity to remind your readers, both British and Italians, that the Chamber, is an open and inclusive institution determined to support local businesses through the uncertainty of Brexit and the many other challenges facing our markets. To everyone my best wishes for the upcoming holiday season and to you my sincere congratulations on your new role at The British School of Milan.

Best wishes

Daniel Shillito

Message from Simone Crolla, Managing Director of the American Chamber of Commerce in Italy

Aaron Pugliesi, Amie Louie, Barbara Cremaschi, Simone Crolla

Easy Milano ha rappresentato per 18 anni un punto di riferimento per la vasta comunità anglofona a Milano, fornendo un contributo importante ed un orientamento davvero prezioso per tutti i newcomers nella nostra città.

Già dal nome "Easy Milano", l'avventura editoriale di Amie e Aaron evoca un senso di accoglienza e di semplificazione della vita, valori oggi sempre più fondamentali, insieme ad un'idea di generosità e gentilezza che caratterizza Amie e Aaron come persone e professionisti.

“ Easy Milano è stato un importante partner con cui l'American Chamber of Commerce in Italy ha avuto il piacere ed il privilegio di collaborare. ”

Oltre a dare informazioni di valore, Easy Milano ha contribuito attivamente a mantenere vivo nei numerosi expatriates di Milano e le loro famiglie un senso di appartenenza alla cultura anglofona e al contempo di inclusione nel dinamico tessuto sociale milanese.

Nel corso degli anni, Easy Milano è stato inoltre un importante partner con cui l'American Chamber of Commerce in Italy ha avuto il piacere ed il privilegio di collaborare; numerosi sono infatti gli eventi che hanno visto la reciproca partecipazione e commitment.

Per citare l'ultima iniziativa congiunta, in occasione delle elezioni presidenziali in USA dello scorso novembre, abbiamo realizzato l'evento "Election Night Warm Up Party", che ha registrato un grande consenso e la partecipazione di oltre 600 persone.

Sono molto dispiaciuto che Easy Milano sia arrivato al suo ultimo numero ma sono felice di festeggiare con Amie e Aaron il successo della loro lunga avventura ed il proficuo percorso di collaborazione fatto insieme.

Ringrazio Amie ed Aaron anche per la loro amicizia: lavorare con loro è stato stimolante e auguro loro di proseguire con lo stesso entusiasmo e professionalità nei loro progetti futuri!

New Year's Message from Crispin Conroy, Australian Consul General in Milan

Thank you to the Easy Milano team for again giving me the opportunity to send a Seasons Greetings message to your readers! And, as I understand this will be the last issue of Easy Milano after many successful years, I would like to thank the team for providing such a great service for all expats – you, and Easy Milano, will be missed...

I have just completed my first year as Consul-General in Milan, and Senior Trade and Investment Commissioner for Italy and Israel, and I have already had the chance to meet and work with many innovative and dynamic Italian businesses – many of them world leaders in their field – across a range of sectors, including renewable energy, agribusiness, education technologies (edutech), automotive engineering and medical technology.

The focus of my work as Senior Trade and Investment Commissioner, and the Austrade team in Milan, is primarily to promote Australia as a destination for productive foreign investment by large and medium size Italian enterprises throughout Italy, in coordination with my colleagues in the Australian Embassy in Rome.

“ I would like to thank the team [at Easy Milano] for providing such a great service for all expats. ”

Australia has one of the best records of sustained economic growth in the world, and a significant part of this success has been underpinned by foreign investment, including from Italy and Europe more broadly. There is a recognition in Australia that Italian companies can continue to contribute greatly to our growth in the future through productive investments and partnerships in Australia.

My consular role in northern Italy is also a major priority for the Australian Government. The Consulate's consular and passport team is very active, and assists many Australians every week, in close cooperation with the Consul and her team in Rome.

In my message last year, some of you may remember I mentioned that my passion is the ocean, and that I had had the privilege to build links between the surfing communities in Latin America and Australia during my time as Ambassador in Chile. I have been quickly discovering that Italy has a vibrant surf culture, and I have already discovered some good surf breaks and met some of the local surfer community!

Let me wish you all the very best for the festive and holiday season; especially those Australians – like me and my family - making the long trip home.

Best Wishes for a Happy New Year,

Crispin Conroy
Australian Consul General & Senior Trade and Investment Commissioner

Taxis in Milan

In Milan you may have noticed it's difficult to hail a taxi. Most available taxis are found either at taxi stands, usually near major metro stops or they are reserved in advance. The meter will start ticking once the taxi is heading in your direction for pick up (not once you get into the taxi). There are set fare to and from the airports. Malpensa airport to the city center will cost Euro 90, whereas from Linate Airport will cost on average Euro 35 depending on where you need to go.

Milan airport connections

- Milano Malpensa Airport (MXP)
Located 40 km NW of Milan. Largest airport of Milan metropolitan area
- Milano Linate Airport (LNT)
Located 8 km SE of Milan. Mainly for domestic or short European flights
- Milan Bergamo Airport - Orto ai Serio (BGY)
Located 45 km NE of Milan. Popular with low-cost airlines
